NEBRASKA SUFFERERS.
State Relief Committee Charged with Aislaine Incompetency.

Associated Press Special Service.
OMAHA (Nebr.) Feb. 7.—A Lincoln special to the Bee says that the Senate indulged in an angry debate today over the alleged inactivity of the State Relief Commission. Senator Stewart offered a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of five Senators, to at once take charge of the relief work, and to report now on hand. The resolution provoked a heated discussion. Stewart denounced the members of the State Commission as grossly incompetent, and asserted that through their criminal negligence people were perishing from cold and starvation. He insisted that, if a single person perished in the blizzard of yesterday, that the members of the State Commission should be arrested and tried for man-slaughter. He also denounced the Senate for what he termed its "stupidity" in passing a law giving the relief work with so much red tape. The discussion soon took a partisan turn, which was brought to a climax by Caldwell, who asserted that the commission was handi-capped by the fact that at least one of its members was a Populist. The debate was closed by the adoption of an amendment providing for a committee of three to wait upon the Governor and urge im-mediate action.

STOCKYARDS.
Farmers Demand an Investigation of Them.

Associated Press Special Service.
KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Feb. 7.—An in-vestigation of the management of the Kansas City stockyards was begun to-day by a committee of the lower branch of the Kansas Legislature. The investi-gation was caused by complaints from farmers that they were being overcharged in fees and commissions. A bill has already passed the Kansas Senate which reduces the stockyard charges about 50 per cent. The bill is now pending in the House, but it will not be considered by that body until a report is received from the in-vestigating committee. The commission-men and stockyard company say that they do not fear the investigation.

The Young Heiress to Wed a Frenchman.

Another Freezing Cold Wave is Re-ported Floating Around in Florida.

The Thermometer Dropped Forty De-grees Yesterday Afternoon and a Further Drop is Looked for in the State.

By Telegram to the Times.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—(Special Dis-patch.) The Herald says: Miss Anna Gould and Count Jean de Castelane married in the drawing-room of Coderre Cameron's house, at Ottawa, last Wednes-day and announced to several ladies and gentlemen that they were engaged to be married. They also said the wedding would take place within three weeks.

The Count subsequently assured his friends that he would receive a settle-ment from his wife the day of the mar-riage of $2,000,000. This was the first positive confirmation of a rumor which has been floating about in society for some time, and made great stir among people with whom Miss Gould and the Count are intimate. By the world at large the engagement will be discussed from the point of view of seeing another huge American fortune deftly appropriated by a foreigner.

This is Miss Gould's fifth engagement. Her name has been mentioned before by Actor Woodruff, William M. Harriman, Prince Joseph of Battenberg and Count Talleyrand-Perigord. Count de Castelane has paid devoted court to the heiress for several months and he was the first guest invited to join the Gould party, which recently went to the winter carnival at Ottawa. He is an agreeable little Frenchman, who first made his bow to America last summer at Newport. He comes of one of the noblest families of France, his father being Marquis de Castelane and his mother a De Juigne. The family estates are the Chateau de Rochecotte and Longuepierre on the Loire. The family name is derived from "le" and "Gaulle" or "Gaulle", which has passed in direct line from father to son hundreds of years.

He was born in Paris twenty-seven years ago, is very blonde, athletic, a sports-man and leader of opinion. He possesses an amiable disposition, bright blue eyes, and generally is a perfect specimen, in dress and deportment, of the Parisian dandy of the day. He has served with credit in the army and came westward to the United States to travel, observe and have a good time generally.

Miss Gould is the comely of $15,000,000. It is her purpose to make her husband one of the richest young men in Europe by settling $2,000,000 upon him on the day of her marriage. It is said the Count and Countess will go to Paris immediately after the wedding, when the bride will bring with her the sum of $1,000,000. A new and distinguished relative, George Gould, confirms the fact of the engage-ment.

FREEZING FLORIDA.

Another Cold Wave Passing Over the State.

Associated Press Special Service.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 7.—Flori-da is beginning to feel the cold wave. Warm, sunny weather prevailed through-out the State up to noon today, but since then cooler weather is reported from all points in the State. At 10 o'clock to-day the thermometer in Jacksonville regis-ters 26 deg., a drop of 40 deg. during the afternoon. At Tallahassee cycles a foot long formed in central Park. Ice is forming in Ocala. The weather bureau predicts a further drop all over the State. High north and northwest winds prevail. Cold weather has been experienced all over the South, and great damage has been done.

MORE WEATHER.

It Still Continues Bitterly Cold in the East.

Associated Press Special Service.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The Weather Bureau furnishes the following special bulletin: "During the past twenty-four hours the storm in Louisiana has moved to the South Atlantic Coast, increasing in intensity. The area of high pressure moved from the north of Montana to North Dakota. Between North Dakota and the South Atlantic Coast sharp bar-metric gradients will cause the severest cold wave and lowest temperatures ever recorded in the first week of February southward. The temperature in the In-dian Territory and northern portions of Texas and Louisiana has fallen 26 to 28 deg. in the past twenty-four hours, and is now 40 deg. below normal. Emergency warnings for northwest gales and freezing weather have been sent south to Louisi-ana and Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Florida."

ILLINOIS.

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—The Chicago edi-tion of the blizzard was not so fierce a type as predicted, but suburban railroad traffic is seriously delayed. Through trains are three to six hours late.

MISSOURI.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 7.—The blizzard raged with unabated vigor all night. At 7 o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 10 to 12 deg. below zero. Signal Officer O'Connor does not promise any re-lief until Friday evening. Railroads were not inconvenienced much by drifts.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 7.—The approach of the cold wave, predicted in this vicinity, was signalled during the night by heavy winds and zero temperature. Today gales prevail and a drop of 10 or 15 deg. is ex-pected.

IT WAS A SURPRISE.

A. B. BENNETT GAINS HIS FREEDOM AGAIN.

A Somewhat Singular Ruling Made by Justice Morrison in the Embarrassment Case—Anna Stelling Skipped.

A. B. Bennett, under a ruling of Justice Morrison of the Police Court, gaining his freedom yesterday.

Bennett is the man who came to Los Angeles some weeks ago in company with a woman named Anna Stelling. The couple stopped at the Argyle, it is said, as husband and wife. One day, so the women charged, Bennett was given certificate of deposit on the Nevada Bank of San Francisco, to draw for her. He went down town to a bank, and when he returned he told the fair Anna that the money would come from San Francisco in due time. He finally told the woman to go to San Francisco for her money, and she went. When she arrived there she found that the entire amount, about $3500, had been drawn on the order of Bennett. She immediately returned to this city, and J. R. Rush, Esq., made application to the District Attorney's office for a complaint against Bennett. The complaint was issued, but it appears that Anna Stelling neglected to secure the fact if anyone defendant through her attorneys, and at once departed for San Francisco. A great many people have an idea that they may be able to escape criminal law, if anything in this category, for when the officers want to search for her three days ago, she was not to be found, and her presence could not therefore be secured yesterday when the case was called for examination.

The District Attorney's office has been using their best endeavors, under the court's handicap, to carry out the prosecution, and when the case came up yesterday afternoon, Deputy District Attorney James presented an affidavit on a motion for a continuance, and did not wish the fact in "the dress Anna Stelling was absent, and that her testimony was such as could not be furnished by any other witness. The affidavit further set forth very fully the substance of her testimony which would be furnished by the witness, and was prepared in all respects according to the form prescribed by the code, being, if anything, more comprehensive than affidavits usually presented for purposes of continuance are.

Mr. Bacon, who appeared for the defendants, raised no objection to the sufficiency of the affidavit.

The court sustained the objection, much to the surprise of the Deputy District Attorney, and did not wish the fact in "the heard the affidavit read. The court then asked the Deputy District Attorney if he was ready to proceed, to which Mr. James replied affirmatively, and that he had already informed the court that their most material witness was absent, the importance of the testimony of whom it is said the court forth under the statute; therefore, it was plain that the prosecution was not ready to proceed.

The court then allowed the defendant to go, and the little scene was ended.

The decision of Justice Morrison was one which occasioned considerable surprise.

When the Bennett case first came up, Attorney Rush was particularly zealous in the prosecution; in fact he made the original application for a complaint. After the case had been continued several times, particularly desirous to have it known that he was in no way interested in the prosecution of the embarrasement case, he was informed that the people had phatically informed the applicants that his office was not engaged in the work of compounding felonies, or words to that effect. Report further that the number of diamonds were secured from Bennett as a part of the spoils. Mr. Rush now wears a large diamond on his finger, and his business partner, Mr. Davis, wears a like stone in his coat.

It goes without saying that the influence of the "number of prominent men" had no weight with the District Attorney in the effort to secure a dismissal of the charge, and that it is not the fault of that office that Bennett is now alone in his free room.

The question as to why the defendant was allowed to shake off the legal restraint thrown about him must be answered by Justice Morrison.

GEORGE GOULD

Says that He is Not Going in for Horseracing.

Associated Press Leadwire Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—"The World this morning says: 'George Gould has returned from his Canadian trip. When asked as to the truth of the reports that he intends going into horseracing on a large scale he replied, with emphasis: 'There is absolutely no truth in any such statement. I have not the slightest intention of going into racing—at all events not at present. The future is too far away to speak of with certainty.'

MINE ROBBER.

He is Arrested and Placed in Jail—Other Arrests to Follow.

Associated Press Leadwire Service.

LEADVILLE (Colo.), Feb. 7.—George Rollo, a well-known character about town, was arrested last night, presumably on a charge of beating his wife. However, before a notary, he swore that Rollo was the leader of the gang that robbed the Little Johnny mine about eighteen months ago of $10,000 in gold. Rollo is now in jail, and other arrests are likely to follow.

Pomologists Still Swinging Around the Circle.

The Corrected Itinerary for the Remainder of Their Stay in This Vicinity.

An Interesting Point Decided by the Official Figures—An Electric Weed-killer—Station Changes.

The members of the American Pomological Society, who have been sight-seeing during the past week in the neighborhood of San Diego, returned to the city yesterday. This morning they will start off again, the following being the corrected itinerary for the remainder of the time at the disposal of the party: Will leave at 9 o'clock this morning for Pomona, and take their departure from that point at 3 o'clock in the afternoon for Chino, and from there will start for Ontario at 5 p.m. Saturday, leave Ontario, 11:45 a.m. for Los Angeles; leave the city at 12:55 for San Pedro. No programme has been arranged for Sunday. Monday, leave San Pedro, 11:10 for Los Angeles, and leave again for Arcadia at 5:51 p.m. Tuesday, leave Arcadia at 3:30 p.m., returning to Los Angeles.

CHANGES IN STATIONS.

The following changes at stations on the lines of the Southern California road, will go into effect on the 10th inst., and orders have been issued to that effect: The new station of Minneapolis, seven and one-tenth miles south of California, will be open for traffic. Irvington, two and seven-tenths miles north of San Bernardino, will be changed to Verdmont. West Bismarck, one and two-tenths miles west of Bismarck, will be discontinued for passenger business.

THE SAN DIEGO SERVICE.

Since the Southern California road inaugurated a double service to San Diego each day in the week, excepting Sunday, passenger traffic has improved. Henceforward two trains will pull out of Los Angeles for the bay city daily, including Sunday. The extra train will leave at 4:30 p.m., and will make the usual morning train leaving at 8:15.

AN ELECTRIC WEED-KILLER.

On one of the southern divisions of the Illinois Central Railroad an electric weed-killer was introduced to keep its tracks clear from plants. The Intercolonial Railroad of Canada has developed the idea and has added wings on each side of an old snowplow, so that not only are all the weeds removed when the plow runs over the line, but the ballast of the track is trimmed up to look like newly-spread material. The wings are substantially built and have sufficient strength to withstand the tractive force of a locomotive having eighteen-inch cylinders. The wings have cutters at the bottom, which can be raised and lowered to correspond with the section to which it is desired to shape the road-bed. A cut can be made from the road to nine and one-half feet outside the rail on each side, and to a depth of two feet below the top of the rail. The greatest distance run in one day, keeping clear of the trains, was twenty-six miles, and the average for the whole line was twenty miles. Four men are necessary—two to extend the wings and make the cut, and two to cut the wings and the machine will do in a day the work of fifty men.

THE SOUTHERN IS THE SHORTEST.

In response to a request that The Times shall decide a point of contention between certain gentlemen by stating whether the Union Pacific and its connecting lines to New York or the Southern Pacific, with its connecting lines to the same city, shows the least mileage, the following data may be accepted as official: Two travelers leaving Los Angeles simultaneously, one to go northward and over the Union Pacific system; the other to go over the Southern Pacific line, with New York as the objective point of both, and the time speed made in either case being the same, the one who took the southern route would arrive in New York first.

From Los Angeles to Chicago, via the Union Pacific and its connecting roads is 2710 miles. From the Windy City to New York via the Michigan Central is 976 miles; total, 3686 miles.

From Los Angeles to New Orleans, via El Paso, is 2007 miles, and from that point to New York, via the Piedmont Air line, is 1583 miles; total, 3590 miles. The question of speed being eliminated, this traveler would land in the metropolis just so many hours ahead as it would take the trains utilized in making the trip to run 216 miles.

OIL-BURNING LOCOMOTIVES.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 7.—(Special Correspondence.) Oil-burning locomotives promise to be a boon to Southern California. The successful experiments with these locomotives by General Manager K. H. Wade of the Southern California Railway, have already been reported in The Times. The near future Mr. Wade hopes to have other successes to report, looking to a betterment of the oil-burning locomotives already in use on his road. One of a daily 200-mile run with regularity, and at a reduced cost for fuel. An oil-burning locomotive on the Great Eastern Railway of England interests American railroad men now experimenting with this change in fuel. The driving wheels of the English machine are 7 feet in diameter, the leading wheels 4 feet in diameter, and the cylinders 18 inches by 24 inches, cast in one piece with the valves underneath. The link motion is of the Stephenson type. In the boiler there are 256 tubes of 1 1/2 inches diameter. The shell is of steel plates 3/8 inch thick, the firebox of copper, the heating surface 1230 square feet, the grate area 11.9 square feet. The total weight of the engine is forty-two tons and the tender, when filled, thirty-two tons. The liquid-fuel-burning apparatus is placed below the foot-board so as not to interfere with the ordinary working of the locomotive. Further, the fire-bars, etc., remain, and are available for coal firing, either for lighting up and raising steam, or for ordinary coal burning, should it by accident or design become necessary.

For fuel, oil and coal-gas tars, creosote oils and petroleum residue are used. With any of these if fair samples, one ton will replace nearly two tons of coal. This difference in oil fuel is not only to be attributed to the higher calorific value of it, but also to the fact that very complete combustion can be secured, and no unnecessary air need be admitted at the fire door, as usually occurs at intervals of firing with a coal fire. In addition, the fire can be exactly regulated to meet requirements.

The liquid fuel is carried in two cylindrical tanks on the tender, with a combined capacity of 600 gallons. From these it is conveyed by pipes and a flexible connection to the engine. Here branch pipes are provided to each burner with regulating valves working through spindles from a convenient position. Liquid fuel can be simultaneously admitted or shut off at each injector by one horizontal movement of a handle, or the fuel can be regulated and controlled to either one of the injectors by turning tilted heads. On reaching the injector the fuel is sprayed by an internal annular steam jet. This steam, as it escapes from its orifice to receive fuel, sets up a strong induced current through a central air tube. The vacuum pipes can be put into communication with air-heating coils in the smoke box, thus supplying hot air to the centers of the injectors for combustion. The fuel spray escaping from the nozzle of the injector is further atomized by the small jets of steam arranged around the ring of the burner, at the same time the ring acts as a blower, inducing atmospheric air for complete combustion, and, further, it spreads and diffuses the flame and heated gases over the firebox. Steam is obtained from a flange, on the fire-box front, having an internal pipe to the dome. Here are four cocks, one for steam to the central jets of the injector, one for the ring-blower on the same, one for steam to the warming coils in the oil tanks, and one for allowing a steam jet to enter the oil pipes for cleaning purposes. In consumption of fuel, the English liquid fuel burners for a month's average of over 2000 miles burn: Coal for lighting up, standing, etc., 11.8 pounds per mile; liquid fuel, running, 10.5 pounds per mile; total, 22.3 pounds per mile. This compares favorably with a consumption of thirty-four pounds per mile of coal on similar engines on same service. One engine run 324 miles drawing a train of cars weighing 200 tons, and consumed 11.5 pounds of coal per mile, and 11.25 pounds liquid fuel; total 22.8 pounds per mile. The fire was not cleaned, and the only stoppages made were those required for water and oiling the engine.

SCRAP HEAP.

Thomas R. Brown, receiver of the Seattie, Lake Shore and Eastern Railroad, is visiting friends in the city.

General Manager Wade, with the party of officials of the Southern California road, that accompanied him on the inspection trip, returned to the city yesterday afternoon.

T. H. Dugan, freight and passenger agent of the Burlington road, went out along the line yesterday.

C. F. Jordan, Pacific Coast agent of the Transfer Dispatch and Freight Line; M. C. Holweg, traveling freight agent of the Chicago and Alton, and C. W. Craig, freight agent of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, arrived in the city yesterday.

Superintendent McKenna, of the Great Northern Railroad, is reported to have invented a process for curving old rails into new by putting them through a crucible. The cost is $3 per ton less than the cost of buying new rails.

PETTY OFFENDERS.

The Cases Disposed of by the Police Judges.

Justice Owens yesterday had a light docket in current police work.

Bill Jones, a tall, thin opium fiend, recently arrested by Officer Ritch, was fined $5, which fine he promptly paid. Bill put in a plea of insanity, alleging that if he quit the habit he would die sure.

In fact, he had a San Francisco doctor's certificate to that effect, if only he could find it. But he couldn't find it, and Judge Owens was unconvinced to the extent of $5.

The case of the Japanese, Nasaki, charged with battery, was continued to February 9, at 9:30 a.m.

Frank Wilson, for petty larceny, will be heard today at 2 p.m.

As no evidence was found to hold John Burk for any crime, he was fined $2 for being drunk. Detective Goodman had him in on suspicion.

James Ferguson, a young boy arrested by Detective Auble for conspiracy in the numerous harness robberies in this city and vicinity, was arraigned on a charge of burglary yesterday before Justice Morrison, and examination was set for February 9 at 3 p.m.

Ah Wah, the king pin of the fan-tan players recently arrested by Detectives Auble, Bradish and Goodman in the act of conducting a game, was fined $100 yesterday by Justice Morrison. The fellow's attorney filed a notice of appeal.

Justice Owens yesterday dismissed the case against Eliza Bosler and Eliza Morgan for disturbing the peace, on the ground that there was no evidence to warrant conviction. Neither of the parties would convict himself, and the prosecution knew nothing to a certainty.

E. G. Ferguson, the negro boy recently arrested by Officer Henderson for stealing a bicycle, was brought up before Justice Morrison yesterday and arraigned on a charge of petty larceny. The boy demanded a jury trial, and this was set for February 12 at 2 p.m.

THE Japanese are known as the best makers of a good wearing silk in the world; they are the best dyers; their Kakai silks are the best wash silks that can be produced; at 40c a yard they have no equal; 20 inches wide; over fifty styles to select from, and with the largest silk business we have ever done; six yards makes a waist; silk waists will have a big run this season; the material for a waist will cost you $2.40; ready-made it would cost you $8. A Butterick pattern will assist you to economize. A still cheaper waist can be made from our 25c real Japanese printed silks; over seventy-five styles to select from. With silks selling for 25c and 40c a yard there will be no question about the demand increasing beyond the supply in a short time. To secure a choice selection come in today and see the great silk bargains now being offered. Here is still another and better silk bargain for 50c a yard. Fifty pieces checked and striped taffetas in an excellent line of colors and designs for 50c a yard; we consider this bargain far above the average.

The best bargain in the dress-goods department is a line of 50-inch all-wool blacks and small checks, in fine imported goods, for $1 a yard; last season the same qualities retailed for $1.50 a yard; this season they are 50 per cent. cheaper. We are showing a line of fine mixtures in 50-inch goods for $1 a yard. Over 200 pieces all-wool mixtures, including a large line of checks, for 50c a yard.

24-inch brocade silk taffetas, in small neat figures for $1 a yard; this is an excellent wearing silk, and very cheap at the price.

We still cut, fit and baste capes free for our customers. Capes will be unusually good this season, owing to the craze for big sleeves.

More new goods for the bargain counter; there is not an article on this counter that is not being sold for less than the regular price; new goods are added daily.

OLD INDIAN BLANKET. An old Navajo blanket is much rarer than an old Turkish rug. They are much sought by collectors. No more are made on the reservations. They were made before the trader introduced the German-made yarn. The colors were red, white and blue, and sometimes black. The red is from the Turkish cloth called "Baileta." The squares revealed this cloth and used it for their own blankets. The pattern is often complex, having diamonds, crosses and zig-zag stripes. Such blankets generally belonged to the chiefs. They are worth from $75 to $200. W. D. Campbell has two old ones at his curio store, No. 225 South Spring street. They are the only ones in the city for sale. It will repay the tourist to call and see them. They are a curiosity.

CHARGED WITH BATTERY.
Isaac Wolf and M. E. Myers Taken In by Detective Hawley.

Detective Hawley yesterday afternoon arrested M. E. Meyer and Isaac Wolf on a charge of battery preferred by Abraham Lowich, and booked them at the City Prison. They put up $500 bail for prompt appearance in court at 1:30 p.m. today.

The cause of the arrest is an old story. About ten days ago late at night, Lowich rushed into the central station, and complained that as he was going to his home, two men approached him as he passed the Courthouse on Broadway, and one of them struck him a violent blow over the eye. People approaching scared away the assailants. The affair was afterward related in The Times, but was kept very quiet, as Lowich claimed he recognized the man and would have them arrested.

A few days ago he met them while with Officer Robert E. Lee, and at his request Lee took them to the station. But Lowich had sworn to the central station, and so warrant was out; Lee was compelled to release them. They were not jailed. That was February 5.

But shortly the central station was apprised that Isaac Wolf had retained W. F. Haas, Esq., and had brought suit for $5000 damages to alleviate the pain from wounded feelings sustained while thus falsely imprisoned.

To checkmate this the wily Abraham Lowich duly swore out a battery complaint and had the men arrested. This time, however, in the result of bitter business rivalry and some old personal grudges.

A. HAMBURGER & SONS.

The downstairs salesroom, the cloak department and the hosiery dept., each offer special values today.

Our Cloak Department is offering the most extraordinary values in Ladies' Jackets and Suits. Every garment we offer for your inspection is made and pressed by men tailors, the larger part of them being made in our own factory at San Francisco. Thus at any time in the season we can save you at least one profit, while now we offer our garments at really less than the absolute cost of production.

To secure these values there must be no hesitating, no delay. The size of the lots offered here today while not large, should be ample to meet the requirements of all comers for 48 hours. Mail orders filled for these goods at advertised prices as long as the assortments last. If you cannot get to town your order by mail will have the best possible attention.
